She has bylines on various publications including Entertainment Weekly, VH1, MTV RapFix (now MTV Hip Hop), Blavity, and Killer Boombox.

She has over a decade’s worth experience working in TV production at MTV, VH1, Nickelodeon (where she won an Emmy), various award shows, commercials, and most recently Netflix’s “My Next Guest Needs No Introduction with David Letterman.” She served as the first sideline reporter for the inaugural 2018 NBA2K League then did a short stint in Miami as the local host for the Rickey Smiley Morning Show at 99Jamz.

Currently based in New York, she consults as a creative producer, writer, and voice actor through her company imprint, M.Y.S. Productions. She’s currently the host of Emerson College Alumni Association’s podcast, Making It Big in 30 Minutes and producing various creative projects.

WEB SERIES + INTERVIEWS

WEB SERIES

Georgette has a few web series under her belt as her passion for content creation and producing expands.

#DEARGEORGETTE

What started off as conversations about relationships, life, and pop culture with friends and loved ones turned into a web series.

#DearGeorgette is the creator's version of her own video diary as she takes on a modern day advice column approach to some of life's woes by tackling them in a witty, blunt, yet personable way. Think Oprah meets Chelsea Lately on TV. Season one and two are available now on YouTube.

AFTER DARK WITH GEORGETTE PIERRE

Her new interview series seeks to humanize her guests that are badasses in their professional lives yet unassuming in their personal lives. Season one is available on IGTV, Facebook, and YouTube.

BLACK + NUANCED IN HD

This is a visual extension of her podcast of the same name.

#DearGeorgette is a new web series launched today that puts a fresh spin on topics such as love, pop culture trends, and style — rocking the tastefully risqué side boob, for example.”

- Alexa Tietjen, VH1 (May 12, 2015)

“She was one of the first people to interview with me for my book. Her insight on topics is refreshing. Check out her web series-blog #deargeorgette.”

- Bryant A. Buntin, author of Dear Women I Haven't Slept With (June 2, 2015)

“If you're not watching Georgette Pierre then you're missing out. TRUST US we wouldn't send you to just anyone. She's amazing and tells it just like it needs to be TOLD.”
